

Rossetta Sparks and The Capturer

I heard Tony's voice behind me. He was asking what I was doing but I tuned him out, trying to focus on the man. The it-turned-out-to-be-a-man man was tossing and catching a small ball that looked like it was made of metal. Nothing went through my head about what it might be. Not a single suspicion occurred to me about what it might be, until he tapped it twice and hurled it down towards the main hall before taking off, running. RUN!!!! I screamed, slightly overreacting. I managed to turn my face away just in time as the bomb exploded, wreaking havoc. Ringing echoed in my ears as I pushed myself off the ground, my face covered with soot. Everyone was shouting as they ran around. I saw the tutors and senior spies taking some weapons while some newer spies ran out the exit. Rossetta!!! I heard Tony cry out behind me. I turned and saw him covered with soot as well. He was running towards me. We need to get so- Tony was cut off by another explosion. This time, a giant metal spider emerged from the dust of the explosion. With a mechanical roar, it began tackling spies who were struggling to evacuate at the moment. I looked up to see Ms. Harper frantically running about. She didn't seem worried about the base. She seemed more worried about who had planned the attack. I realized that the base was quite resistant. Two explosions already and no crumbling walls at all. The senior spies meanwhile were trying to bring the metal spider down when a scream ripped through the air. I whipped my head around to see Violet grappling with another metal spider that was trying to bite her. VIOLET!!! I screeched, paralyzed with fear.
