

The Mastermind Groups: Quick Launch Kit

Whether you're new in your business, or you've just been working alone way too long, it's time to get an edge with the help of other people, like you. I learned that lesson years ago when I first started my business. I had lots of ideas swirling around in my head and struggled to take action. I needed feedback, ideas, support. Instead of being productive, I was stuck in analysis questioning my own decisions, making assumptions with no basis and afraid to do what I really needed to do to. My business was sluggish. When I joined a Mastermind Group, within just a few months, I felt more confident about the direction of my business. I got feedback I needed to make decisions more easily. My ideas were reinforced. Members made good suggestions I could apply immediately. My business grew legs and started running! Now you can too. Masterminding is a growing trend in many professions. Masterminding is different. It's more than rubbing elbows with folks at your local chamber meetings. You can talk about the ideas that are directly relevant to your business. And you get direct, candid feedback better than what your own family or friends will tell you. Your mastermind members help you see things like they really are so you can take your business where you really want it to be. Whether or not you know much about masterminding, you'll get great ideas and shorten your learning curve with the Mastermind Groups: Quick Launch Kit. What do you need? If you're like other owners or senior executives I know: You feel isolated in your role. You find it hard to get candid feedback from people you can trust. You wonder if you're the only highly motivated person in the business. You talk about actions you want to take, but don't follow through. You second-guess yourself. You're in your leadership role, but haven't had the best leadership training. It seems easier to help others solve their problems than solve your own. A Mastermind Group is a unique place to get to the heart of the issues you care about most. How to grow your business and not be consumed by it. How to find new ideas that work. How to attract better customers. How to sever a partnership. How to beat your competition. Its a place to focus on the biggest problems that need to be solved now!
